

Your dad left his email open on the computer, and you see an email from your teacher with your name in the subject line.

What do you do?

A boy has been harassing you for weeks, so your friend hacks his Facebook account and posts embarrassing things about him.

The boy thinks it was you.

What do you do?

Someone you really like asks you to text a sexy picture of yourself. You think this person might date you if you do it.

What do you do?